The host comprehended the situation and made it a point to keep a good supply of liquor on hand and nev-er failed to invite the president to help himself, and, as far as is known, the president never failed to accept the invitation.

"On one of these visits the president took more than he could hold, and the result was that he became tipsy; so much so in fact, that his host felt called upon to escort him back to the white house. On arriving at the private entrance the escort and his tipsy harge started upstairs, when Mis. Hayes met them. Snakes on the Plains,

Detroit Tribune. land importation is considerable. The sea trade is principally to Great Britain They look glorious-the plains. Always green and smiling. They are cut up by winding creeks unseen until arriv-ed at because of the giant grass and wild hood of London there are a great many rice which grew along, not their banks -for they have none-but the limits which restrain them from overflowing exwithout any protection. But, as was already said, the cold deprives the lesves of much of the flavor which mark their cepting in very wet periods. Thousands of wild ducks and other water fowls spend the warm season there in hatchgrowth in tropical countries. Compariing and educating their families. Myrisons made between the above figures and ads of birds chatter and chirp in the figures compiled in 1880 show that the beverage is constantly becoming more popular. In Great Britain in 1880, for hiding the verdure provides or swing back and forth on the big blades of grass which bend benesth their weight. Bunchinstance, the consumption per capita was only 2.67, while in 1883 it was 4.90, the es of violets crowd themselvos into every space the grass has forgotten to pre-empt. Great pond lilies and golden average given above. Strange to say constantly increasing people are getting nuphers hide every pool from view. But to care less and less for coffee, that is if that while the number of tea drinkers is te of the people of Great Britain brightness, the perfume, lurk hideousss and treachery. Here is the hom may be taken as examples of the univer-sal tendency. In 1880 the Great Britain of the unpoetic pollywog and his linel descendent, the frog. Here is the bread-ing place of snakes—black snakes green per capita was 1.22, while in 1883 it was only 0.89. The most probable reason why people are getting to care less for snakes, brown snakes, blue snakes, yellow snakes, stiped snakes, spotted coffee is that most physicians are of the snakes snakes till you can't rest. They hiss at the passer-by from the grass. They lie stretched across his path and almost permit themselves to be trampled Yet when disturbed they spring ect to their full length and rnap at him with their swollen jaws. Or they swim by dozens in the creek, swift and graceful, but not the less repulsive. In spring, just after the sun and rains have extracted every particle of frost from the black sand, the earth may be seen dotted in hundreds of places with white, shiny pots. The stranger will find these to be snakes' bellies. At the approach of winter the reptiles bury mselves. They descend to a depth of several feet in some instances. Then in spring, without any apparent effort on their part, they rise slowly to the air again. They do not come up head first Their waists, if snakes nor tail first. may be said to have waists, emerge into the light and air before the rest of their bodies. They come up with their slimy lengths tied in knots. Sometimes, but seldom, they make their appearance in-dividually. More often two, three, four, and in some cases, half a dozen may be found twisted into a hard bunch. They are then innocuous. A child might kill a thousand of them in a day. But in a short time they are strong, quich and venomous. Then they can be ound everywhere.

A Colored Divine Bitten by a Snake.

Irwinton (Ga.) Appeal.

Austin Curtis, a colored minister, living near Irwinton, was walking through a field the other day, and passed near a stump, when a snake of the coach-whip variety, which was in a hole, jumped at him and caught him by one of the fingers. Curtis pulled back and pulled the snake about half way out of the hole, the snake holding on until its fange out the snake holding on until its fange cut through the skin to the end of the flager. He tied a string around the flager above the bite, dug the snake out of the hole and killed it. He then went to town to see a doctor, who put some spirits of tur-pentine on the bite. He is all right now, and suffers but little inconvenience from it.

FEVER and ACUE Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority ever all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAF. CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMAREST oure of Agus and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cause it the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single does has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doese for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicinwill not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require acthartic medicine, after having taken three or four dozes of the Tonic, a single doze of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY FILLS will be sufficient. Use no other.
